Janesville 10, Avalon 1, Clinton 4, Hanover 2, Beloit 3, Footville 1, Oxford 3, Broadhead 3, Evansville 6, Edgerton 2, Milton Junction 2 and Lima 2. The opinion was further expressed that, both in the construction and in the materials used, the buildings were unsuitable for the purpose for which they were designed. LIVES WITH PART OF BRAIN GONE

Evansville Boy Survives After Remarkable Operation in Madison Hospital.

(Special to The Gazette.) Madison, Feb. 13.—Physicians and psychologists are watching with surprise and amazement a wonderful operation successfully performed in this city on eighteen-year-old Charles Gilbertson of Evansville, from whose skull a portion of the brain of the size of a lemon has been taken to relieve an abscess.

The abscess was caused by the explosion of a shot gun which Gilbertson was firing. A portion of the heavy stock struck him in the forehead, splintering the frontal bone and starting the formation of an abscess.

It was not at first apparent as the skull seemed to heal without any difficulty and it was not until Gilbertson began to complain of dull pains in the forehead that his physician, Dr. Reginald Jackson, discovered the trouble.

The operation was performed eleven days ago at the emergency hospital where the young man is now speedily recovering.

A wonderful feature of the operation is the fact that the affected portion of the brain constituted what the psychologists specify as the "thinking part."

Gilbertson has suffered no inconvenience from this, however, declaring that he is just as good mentally as ever.

HOME GATHERING HELD BY CHURCH

CONGREGATIONALISTS MEET IN ANNUAL REUNION.

FIFTY-EIGHTH ANNIVERSARY

Church Is One of the Largest in the State—The Program and Supper.

In celebration of the fifty-eighth anniversary of the founding of the Congregational church, its members assembled for their annual home gathering at the church on Thursday afternoon and evening. The Congregational church was organized on February 11, 1845, and on the Thursday nearest that date there has been held the big social event of the church year. This event, which is known as the home gathering, is all that the name implies, being the great family reunion of the members of the church and congregation. It is the day of all days when the members of the great church family meet together in the spirit of fraternal love and genuine fellowship. Successful as the home gatherings of past years have been they were happily crowned by the one of Thursday. Nearly five hundred people were in attendance and the very atmosphere of the church seemed pervaded with the spirit of social good cheer and cordial friendliness. It was one of the most delightful occasions in the history of the church.

Flowers As Memorials

At three o'clock the members began to assemble in the church auditorium which was beautiful with choice flowers, sent as memorials to some of those whom death has called from the church. Two immense bunches of great pink and white carnations and ferns were the gift of the Misses Ida and Zella Harris in memory of their late mother, the late Mrs. James Harris. Fragrant, long-stemmed pink roses were sent by Miss May Lewis in memory of her sister, the late Mrs. A. M. Valentine and memories of the late Mrs. Emma Ripley were beautifully suggested by pink carnations and ferns, which were the gift of her daughter, Mrs. Frank Sanner, of El Paso, Tex. All the flowers were given with the provision that after they had adorned the pleasure of the people at the home gathering, they should be sent to brighten some sick room.

Afternoon Meetings

Rev. Robert C. Denison, the pastor of the church, presided at both the afternoon and the evening sessions. The afternoon program opened with the singing of "I Love Thy House O Lord," after which Rev. Denison read a portion of the Scripture containing the verse, "I am the vine, ye are the branches," this verse being the text for the first sermon preached in the church after its organization fifty-eight years ago, by the Rev. Buckley.

Fervent prayer by the pastor was followed by the roll call of the membership of the church. Letters from several of the absent members of the church were read in connection with the roll call after which reports from several of the organizations of the church were presented. These reports showed that the church has had a prosperous year in all its activities.

Reports of Societies

Miss Sara Venable, president of the Christian Endeavor society is the banner band of baby mission. Chittenden, as secretary, reported for the Junior Endeavor society. The report of the Wee Folks' band, which is the banner band of baby missionary workers in the states of the interior, was given by their leader, Mrs. R. C. Denison. Other reports presented were Ladies' Benevolent society by Mrs. Benjamin Bleasdale; The Woman's Missionary society by Mrs. S. B. Lewis, Mrs. George Williams and Mrs. H. L. McNamara; the Loan Band by Mrs. F. H. Farnsworth; the church treasurer's report by Miss Sue Jeffris; the Monday club by Mrs. C. D. Capelle and the Covenant club by Miss Marjorie Nicholson.

Social Hour and Supper

The social hour which followed the afternoon program was one of the delightful features of the day. Shortly before seven o'clock supper was served at long tables which filled the Sunday school room. Red shaded candles and carnations decorated the tables and an excellent supper furnished by the ladies of the church, was served under the direction of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Jeffris. A large committee of gentlemen waited on the tables and the service was especially prompt and efficient.

At each plate was a souvenir program which bore the motto "One is your master even Christ and all ye are brethren." It also bore the words of "Home, Sweet Home" with the singing of which the evening program began, a brief prayer, which the entire company repeated in concert and "Blessed be the Tie" which was the closing song for the evening.

Officers Elected

By the adoption of the report of the nominating committee, presented by the Chairman, S. B. Lewis, the following church officers were elected for the ensuing year: J. C. Echlin, William Bladon and H. C. Buell, deacons; John M. Whitehead, church clerk; Miss Sue Jeffris, church treasurer; H. J. Cunningham, Sunday School superintendent; J. A. Craig, assistant superintendent; Miss Fanny Ryckman, church historian; Myron H. Green, church auditor; F. F. Lewis, Mrs. J. T. Wright and A. E. Matheson.

History Brightly Given

Miss Anna Valentine, the church historian, gave the history for the year in very entertaining manner. The record was beautifully written and many exquisite sentiments were interwoven with the facts. Seven weddings and seven births have occurred during the year and these and other incidents were referred to. The work of various organizations, the gift of the organs and their dedica-

PRESSED BRICK MADE AT MILTON

LYMAN BOYER BELIEVES SUCH A PROJECT PRACTICABLE.

HE SHOWS SAMPLES HERE

Hopes to Interest Other Parties So as To Form a Company at That Place.

Pressed brick made from clay dug near Milton has been pronounced of such excellent quality that a company may be formed to utilize the clay beds. Lyman Boyer, on whose farm the clay has been found, was in the city yesterday afternoon exhibiting the brick and talking among those who may be willing to invest in a pressed brick company.

Saving in Freight

Builders in this vicinity declare that a brickyard so near at hand, manufacturing a first class grade of pressed brick would prove a godsend to them. They are now obliged to have them shipped from Menominee at a freight expense of $2.50 a thousand, or from St. Louis, La Salle, Ill., or other distant cities. Brick procured from Jefferson, which is not pressed brick, however, costs only $1.00 a thousand freight. It can be seen from this what the saving would be if pressed brick could be secured from Milton.

Large Clay Bed

One man who has looked over the Milton clay bed says that it is equal to anything in the state. It is three feet in depth and extends over a wide area. It is on the old Walker farm, with only a narrow strip of land separating it from the C. M. & St. P. tracks, so that the transportation facilities are good. The farm is about a mile from the Milton station.

Brick Pronounced Good

The sample brick which Mr. Boyer brought with him are now on exhibition at L. L. Hilton's office, are pronounced of excellent quality. The color and weight is good, and it is believed that a fine quality of pressed brick could be made from it. The purpose is to build the brickyard on the farm near the railroad track.

OBJECTION MADE TO CRADLE BANKS

Oshkosh Does Not Like to Assist a Milwaukee Institution—Directors Make Answer.

In many public places throughout this city there are placed small wooden cradle banks, with glass slides through which the pennies inside may be seen. The sums contributed go for the aid of the Children's Free hospital of Milwaukee. Not long ago Oshkosh, one of the cities where similar banks have been placed, raised a loud voice against calling on cities through the state to assist a Milwaukee institution.

When news of this reached the Milwaukee directors of the hospital they were quite indignant and set forth some excellent reasons for calling on the state in general, notably the fact that sick children from many parts of the state are given free service there.

In the course of their remarks some interesting figures showing the success of the banks were made public. 200 banks have been sent out this year and as a result only $70 has been received up to the present time. The collection from each bank average from 7 to 8 cents a month. In the banks in this city even so small a sum as that is not always seen, although here are sometimes two or three nickels. Coppers are the most common offering.

BOARD JUMPER PUT BEHIND IRON BARS

Man Tries to Work Con MacDonald for a Meal, and is Landed in a Cell.

Several times recently ineffectual attempts have been made to jump the price of a meal at Con MacDonald's restaurant. Those who have tried it have invariably received the worst of it, but last night a man was dealt with rather more severely than usual, and it is predicted that sharpers will transfer their attentions to some other line of business than the restaurants in the future. Instead of arguing with the man when he refused to settle, Officer Benke packed him off to a cell in the city hall basement to meditate on the evil of his ways.

WAS DELEGATE TO BIG CONVENTION

Rev. R. M. Vaughan Attended a Religious Education Conference Held in Chicago.

Rev. Richard M. Vaughan, pastor of the Baptist church, returned home Thursday evening from Chicago where he has been attending a religious education convention for the past three days. Rev. Vaughan as one of three hundred and sixty delegates who were in attendance and the convention was one of the most remarkable religious conventions ever held in the West. It was strictly non-sectarian, all the evangelical denominations being represented by delegates.

The convention was called for the purpose of discussing the religious training of the child and the general educational advantages which are afforded the young people of this country. The education of two children was discussed along three general lines, the training in the home, in the public schools and in the Sunday school.

Naturally great emphasis was laid on the work being done in the Sunday schools, it being the general sense of the convention that these organizations which ought to be great moral forces, exerting a powerful influence on the lives of the young people, are really lagging behind in the educational procession. Their value is below the standard of the other educational forces. As a result of the convention a society was organized for the purpose of securing better and more systematic methods in the Sunday schools, in order that the religious training received by the scholars may have a genuine educational value.

A Tough Mistake.

A deranged man walked into a Georgia hotel while the guests were at breakfast and announced dramatically that he was "the devil." Some of the guests fled the scene, but one cool-headed fellow, motioning him to a seat, said: "Tackle this steak, then; it's tough as where you come from."

BELOIT COLLEGE IN MANY DEBATES

Line City Institution Will Meet Ripon, Carleton and Knox Colleges This Spring

Students at Beloit college are now in the thick of preparation for their three forensic battles of the coming spring. The second semester of the college year began this week, and the students have more leisure for such work now that examinations are out of the way. The Sophomore class has a contest on with Carleton college, Minnesota, the Freshmen will debate the Ripon Freshmen, and the college as a whole will follow its annual custom of matching wits with Knox college, Galesburg, Ill.

Although all collegians are eligible for the last event, only Juniors and Seniors customarily attempt to make the team, the underclassmen reserving their efforts for the Freshmen and Sophomore contests. The preliminaries will now follow in fast order, and the teams will soon be chosen. At Galesburg the contest for the team has narrowed down to six men. Three will represent the college.

LADIES' GLEE CLUB TO COME

Appleton Co-eds in Lawrence University Will Visit This City on Their Trip.

Co-eds from Lawrence university, Appleton, are planning to visit this city within a month or two. The Ladies' Glee club of that Methodist institution, the first organization of the kind which the school has ever had, has arranged an extended itinerary and thus included Janesville. Prof. Dodge of the university faculty is the musical director of the club and C. O. Nevy, of Antigo, the business manager. The club has a membership of a dozen, all of whom, it is said, are possessed of strong musical voices. The trip which will be made includes Neenah, Os-kosh, Fond du Lac, Ripon, Milwaukee, Waukesha, Janesville, Ft. Atkinson, Union Grove, Racine, Kaukauna, De Pere and Green Bay.

STARK SAYS THERE IS TRUTH IN STORY

Agent of Sugar Company Says Factory Will Come if People Work for It.

Edward Stark, agent of the American Beet Sugar company, and for several weeks past engaged in canvassing the surrounding country, strongly corroborates the truth of the story from a Milwaukee paper which the The Gazette printed last night, to the effect that Janesville may have a beet sugar factory next year.

"The report is straight, is it?" "There is no doubt of it," said Mr. Stark. "All that the city needs to do is to get down and do a little work, and the factory will come all right." The company agrees to build upon the guarantee of a 4,000 acreage and the grant of a site by the city. Any other city would readily furnish a location, and Janesville ought to be glad to do the same.

Can Secure Acreage

"I am positive that I can get 1,000 acres pledged for this year's crop, and if I can do that, 4,000 next year would not be hard. There are very few farmers who are unwilling to try a few acres, and many wish to take more than the five acres to which they are limited this year."

Mr. Stark went on to tell of the long talk he had with some of the officers of the company at Milwaukee not long ago, the drift of which convinced him that Janesville would get a factory.

City Well Located

Its location is one great argument in its favor, so Mr. Stark says. Watertown has been well spoken of as the location of a factory, but the agent does not think that it stands as near the head of the list as Janesville. The reason for this is that beets from the Watertown district could easily be shipped either to Menominee Falls or to this city, while Watertown would be nearer the present factory than is necessary until the industry has reached a later stage in its development.

The end of the canvass in this part of the state is being reached. Only a few more townships remain to be covered. It is the purpose to distribute this year's limited acreage over as great an area as possible in order to educate as many farmers as possible in the culture of sugar beets.

An Indignant Veteran.

This is a letter that came to the pension bureau from a veteran who is evidently somewhat of a fatalist: "I Always Been a Publican Party. I Always Sidelined with it. I Been turned Down by it. I Recd my Blue. I find from it hel is doomed. I am also doomed. I Spons I must go to the Board. I Must Close."

A Theatrical Innovation.

Tourists have traversed all habitable portions of the globe, astronomers have peered into the limitless skies and the powerful telescopes have discovered many secrets of the heavenly bodies, scientific navigators have penetrated every part of the world and sail-crafts upon hitherto unknown seas, but it remained for the gifted writers of "Through the Center of the Earth" to delve into the deep, dark recesses and caverns of this venerable old terrestrial sphere, for material with which to construct a play, the like of which has never before been seen upon a stage, in this or any other country.

The title of the piece is suggestive of much that is weird, romantic, fascinating. In their treatment of the subject the author Edward Blondell has shown marked ability and has succeeded in building a structure that for picturesque scenery, magnificent wardrobe, startling electrical effects and novel dramatic and comedy situations, is positively a pronounced innovation that is far ahead of and away from anything heretofore seen among things theatrical.

In the presentation of "Through the Center of the Earth" the reigning sovereigns of the comedy realm, Mr. and Mrs. Blondell assume the leading characters and they are ably supported by over half a hundred picked professionals who have been carefully selected from the front ranks of the different branches of the profession.

Each player has been engaged to impersonate a character suited to her, or his individual talents and personality. In the matters of scenic, mechanical and electric equipment no traveling organizations on the continent can successfully cope with this truly mammoth production. In its fully sufficient to equip half a dozen of the ordinary traveling companies.

"Through the Center of the Earth" will be given its first presentation in this city at the Myers Grand, Feb. 17. Some idea of the importance and extent of this mastodon production can be obtained when it is truthfully stated that it had been in course of construction for fourteen successive months previous to its first public presentation.

"Through the Center of the Earth" will be presented in this city with all its gorgeous scenery, superb costumes, mechanical and electrical effects, and exceptionally strong and powerful cast.

LEDERER SHOW AT THE GRAND

"Sally in Our Alley" Produced Last Evening—Friganza & Carroll Again.

It is about time to ask what the stage is coming to when George W. Lederer is willing to use his name in connection with a production like "Sally in Our Alley." There have been many plays before with which the plot was hardly on speaking terms but they were not sent out by the man who staged "The Chaperones." Not that "Sally" does not please. There was more laughter in the Myers Grand last evening than there has been in many a day. Likewise it has been several moons since a Jamesville audience presented anything so nearly like ovations to a player and a play as those which were last night handed Junie McGree and Trickle Friganza. But those ovations had nothing to do with the play. Some rather clever singing of the music hall, not the musical variety and some rather more clever "business" did the work.

There are vaudeville shows that hang together more coherently than does "Sally." The only thing that was missing last night was a black face team to do a musical stunt and a family of acrobatic and contortionistic marvels.

Ludwig Englander has been repeating himself melodically ever since modern musical comedy began, and it was the same old story with the topical songs last night. There was a strollers' waltz chorus that everybody who couldn't whistle was humming on the way home, but aside from that there was not much music that was worth while. One notable exception was "Under the Bamboo Tree," which, by the way, was not written by the authors of "Sally in Our Alley."

But to lay aside the hammer. There were a lot of things about "Sally" that were worth seeing and hearing, and they were all in the way that it was done. Witness Miss Flannagan, known on the stage as Trickle Friganza. A more than less part than hers as Sally could hardly be imagined, but she managed to captivate the hearts of that part of the audience which had not surrendered when she was playing in a Lederer company last year. Around the former victim to her cleverness she bound the fetters yet more tightly.

Richard Carroll as a Tammany policeman was uproariously amusing with his ridiculous sky-scraping voice and exhaustless supply of "Bibi" Devery proverbs. The lines of the piece are distinctly dull. The prima donna, Margaret Marston, who was cast to marry a dark brown Algerian, but didn't, was a winsome bit of femininity with rather more voice than is usual. The youth who captured her, Harry Fairleigh, displayed a really excellent tenor. Junie McGree, as a red-headed Dutchman named Izzy, as always laughable and clinched the argument by a dubious song of many verses.

It would be hardly fair to forget the professor at the piano, whose neck was carefully swathed in silk handkerchiefs, for he was the "goat" in one of the best laughs of the evening. It was mean of her, but Trickle Friganza was on a tear and she couldn't resist a fling at "him with the bell"—and the house came down.

BAER YIELDING TO THE MINERS

SURRENDERS TO COMMISSION

Announces That the Operators Are Making Concessions Out of Respect to the Investigating Body and Then Scores Civic Federation.

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 13.—"This afternoon, in the last hour of this proceeding, the man more responsible than any other for the anthracite strike comes before the commission and says they will do exactly that which these men demanded nine months before, and which they in their blindness, their ignorance, and their stupidity refused. Why did not Mr. Baer go to Mr. John Mitchell nine months ago as he came to this commission today?"

Pleases Miners. These words, addressed to the anthracite coal strike commission by Clarence Darrow, point to the favorable consideration by the miners of the proposition made by President George F. Baer to settle the strike without further action of the commission appointed by President Roosevelt. Something more, however, will have to be offered by the operators, as the miners, it is believed, consider the 5 per cent advance not enough. They also want reduction in the hours of labor.

Baer's Proposal. President Baer's proposition was made at the close of his argument before the commission. On behalf of the anthracite operators, he offered to pay the contract miners on a sliding wage scale, their wages to fall or rise with the market price of coal at New York, but that in no case shall the wages fall below the present basis.

"We surrender," he said, "not to the miners but to the commission."

President Baer's proposition in full follows:

Minimum Wage. "That the rate of wages now paid shall be the minimum basis for the next three years; that from the 1st of November to the 1st of April, 1903, all employees, other than contract miners, shall be paid an additional 5 per cent. That on and after April 1, 1903, for each 5 cents in excess of $4.50 per ton on the average price realized for white ash coal in the harbor of New York, on all sizes above pea, wages shall be advanced 1 per cent, the wages to rise or fall 1 per cent for each 5 cents increase or decrease in prices; but they shall never fall during the next three years below the present basis.

Average Price. "The average price for each region to be ascertained by a competent accountant, to be appointed by Judge Gray, chairman of the commission, or in case, for any reason, Judge Gray cannot act, then by one of the United States Circuit Judges holding court in the city of Philadelphia. The compensation of the accountant to be fixed by the judge making the appointment and to be paid by the operators in proportion to the tonnage at each mine; each operator to submit a full statement each month to said accountant of all sales of white ash coal and the prices realized therefrom, free on board New York, with the right of the accountant to have access to the books to verify the statement."

Indulges in Sarcasm.

In his closing address President Baer devoted the first part of his effort to a technical discussion of the points at issue between the operators and the striking miners. He then proceeded in a sarcastic vein to criticize the miners and the members of the Civic Federation. He alluded to the argument of Henry D. Lloyd in behalf of the miners and ironically suggested that the federal government set apart an island where "socialists" could go and invent socialist schemes.

Referring to the Civic Federation, President Baer said the operators pocketed their pride and met in a church building, where were present distinguished men. "Some were bishops and some were dressed like bishops."

Criticizes Federation. He pictured the members of the federation sitting around "puffing good cigars" and not saying a word, while he and Mr. Mitchell tried to get together. Speaking slowly and deliberately, he arraigned the federation for not giving the operators and the miners' representatives the "small courtesy" of hearing the report of the committee appointed by these two sides, nor did it have the "manly courage" to further help the parties in contest.

Married Sixty Years.

Lima, Feb. 13.—Sixty years ago on February 9th in the town of Ellensburg, Jefferson county, New York state, Daniel H. Jenkins and Miss Mary Ellsworth were united in marriage. On Monday last at Hollinbrook's hall in the town of Lima, Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of their wedding in the presence of two hundred of their friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth made their home in Ellensburg, N. Y., until 1860 where they moved to Jefferson county this state. Here they lived until 1881 when they moved to Lima where they have since resided. The reception at the hall was conducted with appropriate exercises the most joyful of which was the presentation of a purse of $100 to the aged couple by their friends. The presentation speech being made by Rev. Longfield.

Neither Mr. nor Mrs. Jenkins show the ravages of years and both are as well as can be expected from persons so far advanced. Mr. Jenkins is one of the staunch men of Lima and is well thought of by that community.

Doctor Said Baby Would Die.

Dr. Miles' Nerve Revived and Cured Her.

When your nerves are tired and deranged, your troubles begin and remain with you until your nervous system is toned up and regulated. Dr. Miles' Nerve is the great Nerve Tonic and Regulator. Read what a grateful mother writes of what it did for her baby:

"My baby had sinking spells so bad we despaired of her life. Four or five times she would faint away and be to all appearances dead. When she was eight months old she took a very severe cold and the doctor and all who saw her thought it impossible for her to recover. We hardly revived her from one sinking spell until she would go into another. One morning after a most wretched night spent fighting death and when all symptoms were growing worse, I remembered an almost empty bottle of Dr. Miles' Restorative Nerve and without saying anything about it I gave the baby nearly a half teaspoonful. Then I noticed she slept more naturally. She had no more spells that day, and in the evening I gave her a few more drops, which was all there was, and now though she is three years old she is well and strong and has never had the slightest symptom since the first attack. I know of several persons, among them relatives, who have used the Nerve with excellent results. It saved my baby's life. You have my permission to publish this as I wish to do all I can to benefit others."—Mrs. W. L. Totten, Portland, Ind.

WISCONSIN WEATHER FORECAST

Fair or snow tonight; Saturday colder.

BRITISH INDIA

The two sections of the world in which exports from the United States do not make satisfactory growth are South America and India. In each of these cases the United States imports large and constantly growing quantities of the products of the countries in question, but makes no perceptible gain in its exports to those parts of the world. The imports into the United States from South America have grown from $90,000, 144 in 1890 to $119,785,756 in 1902, while the exports in South America from the United States in 1890 were $35,752,648, and in 1902, $38,043,617. From the British East Indies (which include India, the Malayan Peninsula, Ceylon, etc.) the imports into the United States were, in 1890, $20,804,319, and in 1902, $48,421,218; while the exports from the United States to the British East Indies were, in 1890, $4,655,979, and in 1902, $4,621,876.

These facts, especially with reference to the trade of the United States with British India, are set forth in a statement just published by the Treasury Bureau of Statistics, entitled "Commercial India in 1902." The absence of growth in our exports to British India is the more strongly marked because of the fact that importations to India are steadily increasing, having doubled since 1864 and grown from 1666 millions to 264 millions of dollars since 1880. Another equally interesting fact in regard to the export trade to British India is that a large proportion of the articles imported into that country is of the class produced by the United States. Of the 264 million dollars' worth of articles imported into British India in 1902, 36 per cent. consisted of cotton goods, of which the United States is a large manufacturer and constantly increasing her manufactures, while her possibilities in that line as the chief cotton producer of the world are almost unlimited. "Second in order in value of imports are manufactures of iron and steel, which form about 12 per cent. of the total imports; next in order is mineral oil, which forms a 65th mineral oil, which forms about 5 per cent. of the total imports. Thus more than half of the total importations into British India was composed of the class of articles for which the United States has special facilities of production and in which she ranks among the world's greatest producers. Prominent among the articles forming the remainder of the imports of British India are provisions, clothing, copper, paper, instruments and apparatus, chemicals, salts and spirits, of all of which the United States is a large producer and constantly increasing her exports. Yet in spite of the fact that more than three-fourths of the imports of India is of the class of merchandise which the United States produces and exports, less than 2 per cent. of the importations of British India in 1902 was from the United States. Of the four and a half million dollars' worth of exports from the United States to British India in 1902, mineral oil was the largest item, amounting to $1,437,696; next in order was cotton cloths, $569,293; machinery, $480,286; pipes and fittings, $245,340; chemicals, drugs and dyes, $103,215; instruments and apparatus for scientific purposes, $115,328; and clocks and watches, $93,533. Of the importations into the United States from the British East Indies, manufactures of fibers, chiefly jute bagging, amounting to over 12 million dollars; jute for use in manufacturing, over 4 million dollars; hides and skins, over 9 million dollars; gums, more than 2 million dollars; spices, 1-2 millions; and cabinet and dye woods, nearly a million dollars.

A very large proportion of the trade of British India is with the governing country, the United Kingdom, and a considerable proportion of the remainder is with British colonies. In 1902 the United Kingdom supplied 65 per cent. of the imports into, and took 25 per cent. of the exports from British India.

PARLIAMENT

The meeting of the British parliament is only a week ahead; and if the alliance between Germany and England lasts until then it is sure to undergo a heavy bombardment when the national sentiment finds voice in the house of commons. It is said, than that of the German ambassador in England, that Joseph Chamberlain will, on his return from South Africa, espouse the popular contention against the alliance, "Will advise the other members of the cabinet accordingly," and will in consequence be invited to form a new ministry, superseding that of Balfour.

HANNA'S BILL

Probably the only result to the negroes of the introduction of Senator Hanna's bill for the pensioning of ex-slaves will be the vast multiplication of swindlers posing as agents of the government in procuring such pensions. Swindlers of this stripe have repeatedly "worked" the ex-slaves in times past, sometimes to the amount of thousands of dollars in a single neighborhood; and now that it is an actual fact that a bill of the kind has been introduced in congress, as has falsely been told before, they may be expected to breed like rats all over the South. The old darkies are a credulous lot, and many of them know little of the difference between "introducing" a bill and actually passing it. They are already buying of the sharpers the "certificates" alleged to be necessary to prove themselves properly beneficiaries of the law. Senator Hanna should have thought of this before allowing himself to be persuaded into such a deal in the game of politics.

THE STATE PAPER

And so the governor's organ pities Mr. Wilder because the Gazette said he was a gentleman. The editors of the organ are probably so old in years that they have forgotten common decency and stoop to personalities, that always belittle the paper that allows such items to be published. Despite the Gazette's endorsement of the State Journal in appears that the conservative senate have decided that the Evening Wisconsin has no claim upon the title of official paper. For this we are truly thankful but had the governor's private organ been established long enough to come within the limits of the law it would doubtless have made a trial for the title itself.

QUAY'S STAND

The Washington Star thinks the long debate on Quay's "omnibus bill" has been on the whole very profitable, especially in the revelations it has drawn out as to the plans and progress of the Mormon propaganda. "Other revelations as important as that relating to polygamy may come out of it." Now comes the cry from the Spring Brook end of town that with all the improvements that have been going on in the uptown portion of the city they are forgotten and they want to become another ward so that they can have something for themselves in the way of improvement. That Milton avenue macadam cost the city and lot owners thirteen thousand dollars and from present indications the last block is liable to be all washed out before it can be enjoyed. The Observer states plain facts and gives figures that back up his statements in a manner that bids fair to make some people see things as they never saw them before. Sixty years of married life is a good span in man's life, yet two couples in Rock county has within a week celebrated just such occasions. That senate is daily showing more and more signs of good common sense. One thing certain they will not be tossed by any one-man power. It looks as though Janesville would have a beet sugar factory here after all. The farmers want it so why not, Mr. Sugar man? So the Evening Wisconsin despite the work of the organ in its behalf did not land the plum. Madison has nine wards; Beloit five; why not Janesville with six?

PRESS COMMENT

Evening Wisconsin: The race question will continue, even though the bill to prohibit the marriage of whites and blacks should be passed by the Wisconsin legislature. Oshkosh Times: The effects of Sousa and Gen. Miles together on King Edward ought to put another rivet in the entente cordiale between this country and England. Chippewa Herald: This is the best winter for loggers that we have experienced in many years. If contractors do not make money this season they never will. Oshkosh Northwestern: By the masterly way in which Minister Bowen plays his hand against the European diplomats, we will chance a guess that he has been initiated into the mysteries of the famous American game.

Waukesha Freeman: The French chamber of deputies has voted an appropriation of $240,000 to supply French troops with wine. This will be news of interest to those connected with the canteen argument in this country. La Crosse Republican and Leader: What an indictment of South Carolina it is that the people of the country believe that it will be impossible to convict Jim Tillman of murder, even with the clear and undisputed facts now known. Green Bay Gazette: The question as to whether the claims of Germany, England and Italy should be settled before those of other nations is one that might be settled by The Hague tribunal along with the other matters in controversy. Superior Telegram: A bill has been introduced in the legislature to make wife and child desertion an offense punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary. This is a good bill and passed without delay and made to take effect as soon as signed by the executive. No punishment is too severe for this crime. Manitowoc Pilot: The prevailing by economic exports is that the Wisconsin tax commission suggestion, advising against the taxation of credits is judicious and eminently correct. To tax credits, in some cases, to cause double taxation. No student of the problem who is an ordinary man would advocate any such constitutional and arbitrary method. Beloit Free Press: There should be no duty on that which cannot be made or produced in this country. On that which we can make or produce should be a duty equal to the difference between the schedules of wages in this country and in foreign countries. That's about all a tariff should do to be a healthy protective tariff. Kenosha News: I you ever have a telephone war in the cities and the managers begin cutting rates the ministers will be expected to take a hand in the fight. The Wisconsin Telephone company says that the lowering of rates by competition lowers at the same time the average moral tone of the community. Darlington Republican-Journal: Quay's omnibus territorial bill has the support of half a dozen republicans and of nearly all the democrats, yet it is not prospering. The Pennsylvania senator threatens to take the matter up in the next congress if it falls in this one. In the next congress, however it will have to run the gauntlet of the house, as well as the senate. The house passed the omnibus bill this time because it thought the senate would defeat it by a big vote. Madison Democrat: The newspapers of Minnesota made a good thing out of the primary election law. They agreed on a stiff advertising rate for the advertising of candidates. The office-seekers were all seeking the announcement of their candidacy and a reasonable charge for the notices, puffs and praises they got made the business better than the publication of a tax list in a northern county. Fond du Lac Commonwealth: The assembly has shown its disposition to get down to business early in the session by passing the primary election bill, as it came from the committee. There was little opposition to it; indeed little was expected. The friends of the measure were in control and everything went. On the senate will devolve the responsibility of making reasonable modifications through amendments, and it is a responsibility which that body will not shirk. Nations are quite as much given to piracy as individuals, but they prefer to call it by an entirely different name.

BRIGHT TALK ON LIFE IN BURMAH

INTERESTING ADDRESS GIVEN AT THE BAPTIST CHURCH

BY A RETURNED MISSIONARY

Miss Louise Tschirch Told of Her Work Among the People of the Jungle.

Miss Louise Tschirch, a returned missionary from Burmah and a guest at the home of Judge and Mrs. B. F. Dunwiddie, gave an intensely interesting address in the parlors of the Baptist church on Thursday evening. Her general subject was "A Word From Burmah," and her talk was made a feature of the regular prayer meeting service, at which there was an unusually large attendance.

E. N. Butterfield, president of the missionary society of the church, presided and read the opening Scriptural selection. Prayer was offered by Wilson Lane and with the exception of these opening exercises and the singing of hymns by the audience, the entire meeting was devoted to Miss Tschirch's address. Owing to a belated train which delayed Rev. R. M. Vaughan's return from Chicago, he was unable to be present at the meeting.

A Wisconsin Missionary
Miss Tschirch is the Baptist representative from this state in the foreign field. She is a Wisconsin girl and was sent out as a missionary by the women of Wisconsin in the fall of 1884. For seven years she was stationed at Bassein, Burmah, being forced to return home by ill health and the loss of her voice. For the past year and a half she has been in Chicago, taking medical treatment and enjoying the rest which was so essential to the recovery of her strength. She still has some throat difficulty but confidently expects to return to her work in foreign fields next fall.

Life in Burmah
Miss Tschirch's special work was in the mission school and among the Karens, or jungle people. She is a woman of fascinating personality and her method of telling about the conditions among the heathen is uniquely charming. She takes her audience with her on a journey through the country and her hearers live over with her many of the experiences which came to her as she became acquainted with the field of labor.

First she told of the situation as she first found it, picturing the scene of the people engaged in the worship of Buddha. Then the journey continued into the jungles and the life of the people of the jungle described. Later the speaker told of the general plan of the station work which is being carried on by the missionaries and of her own special work in the mission school.

Her account of the training of the children, illustrated by many personal incidents, was especially interesting and she also gave evidence of the practical value of the training, telling how the young people make use of it by going out into the jungle and teaching their own people.

Audience Was Delighted
Probably no missionary address was ever given in the city which was listened to with keener interest. The large audience was charmed with the speaker and with her delightful presentation of missionary facts. It was a decided departure from the old stereotyped form of dry statements and less interesting statistics and gave her hearers an intelligent insight into the life of the people, the work of the missionaries and existing conditions in general in Burmah.

THEFT IS CHARGED AGAINST J. ARMAN

William Folmar Claims He Lost $50—
The Examination Is on Today in Municipal Court.

J. Arman was arrested yesterday afternoon and was brought before the municipal court on the charge of stealing $50 from Wm. Folmar. The complaint alleges that the $50 was taken from Folmar's purse. The district attorney was present and the prisoner admitted enough to warrant Judge Fifield to hold the defendant for examination at 11 o'clock this morning. His bail bonds were fixed at $500 and in default of which he went to jail.

This Morning's Session
Arman's examination was taken up at 11 o'clock this morning. District Attorney Jackson appeared for the state and William Smith for the defendant.

The examination developed that Folmar, who is a farmer in the town of Plymouth, visited Hanover on February 10 and had about $120 in bills on his person. He visited the hotel and Holmes' saloon and had several drinks before the saloon closed up for the night. After that time Folmar and the defendant Arman, and one or two other parties went out to where Arman's camp is located, about a mile and a half south of Hanover, where he was cutting wood and spent the night. Folmar stated that after they had been at the camp a short time the other parties that were with him with the exception of Arman took his team and returned to Hanover for whiskey. While they were away he felt sick and laid down on the bed and went to sleep. He was aroused by some one putting his hand in his pocket where he kept the money and as he waked up Arman began trying to undress him. He got up and said that he did not wish to take off his clothes and then discovered that his money was gone. He accused Arman of taking his money and he was fumbled about in his (Folmar's) clothes, and found the bag and returned it to him. The next morning when he got home he counted his money and found it $50 shy.

Arman put up a denial of the testimony introduced by the plaintiff in regard to taking the money.

and Has Also Made Money.

The annual report of the Rockford, Beloit and Janesville railroad to the Railroad Commissioner of Wisconsin, a copy of which was filed with City Clerk Badger today shows that so far the road has been a paying investment. It shows a nice balance in favor of the road after paying all costs of operation and the interest on the bonds.

The Report
The company has 144 miles of main track and .03 of a mile of sidings

City of Janesville—11,400 feet main; 370 feet siding.
The common stock of the company

ness, $250,000 and other indebtedness at $895.

business is given as $3,156.51 and the disbursements at $1,111.00; divided into construction $47.32 and operating expenses, $1,063.68, interest on bonds $912.23, leaving a net income of $1-133.38.

$24 Per Day
The statement was made on January 27, and the line between Janesville and Beloit was not opened up until December 10. It shows that the net earnings of the road have been close to $24 a day since that time.

SUPPER GIVEN BY CHARLES CONNELL

He Entertained His Pastor and the Ushers of St. Mary's Church at His Home.

Charles T. Connell was the host at a pleasant social gathering held at his home, 378 St. Mary's avenue, Thursday evening. His guests were Rev. Father W. A. Goebel and the ushers at St. Mary's church and the gentlemen spent an exceedingly happy evening together.

As soon as the guests had assembled at Mr. Connell's home they were ushered into the dining room and seated at the prettily spread table which was heavily laden with an abundance of good things to eat. An elegant course supper was served by the host's mother and sisters after which the evening was happily spent with games and music.

During the evening a chance remark revealed a fact that Mr. Connell had carefully guarded as a secret and the guests discovered that they were assisting him in the celebration of the anniversary of his birth. Thereupon Rev. Goebel was called upon to make a few remarks in honor of the occasion and to extend the hearty congratulations and best wishes of the company.

Rev. Goebel responded to the call in a very happy manner. He referred to the fact that on the twelfth of February, several years ago, one of America's greatest men was born and the date is honored as the birthday of Abraham Lincoln. Humorous comparisons were then made between the martyred president and the host of the evening whose birthday came on the same date. Mr. Connell had not yet attained the six feet four which Mr. Lincoln reached by the time he was nineteen years old, nor were there any signs of a remarkable growth of whiskers on Mr. Connell's face, but his friends hoped that he would yet become president of the United States.

The gentlemen who enjoyed the evening together were Rev. W. A.
Goebel, Charles Connell, Thomas
Baker, Harry Schmidley, Joseph
Burns, Edward Jerg and Louis Schmidley.

HAPPY WEDDING AT FIRST WARD HOME

Miss Mary Thorburn and Albert R.
Gridley Were Married Thursday Evening.

Miss Mary E. Thorburn, of this city and Albert R. Gridley, of Milwaukee, were happily married on Thursday evening at six o'clock, the wedding taking place at the home of the bride's father, Adam Thorburn, 207 Pearl street. A small company of relatives and a few intimate friends witnessed the impressive service at which Rev. Robert C. Denison, pastor of the Congregational church, officiated.

The home was beautifully decorated with palms and choice cut flowers and the ritual party stood in front of a bank of palms and smilax artistically arranged in the north parlor.
There were no bridal attendants and the bride was handsomely gowned in white silk mull with trimmings of lace and ribbon.
After the ceremony and the extension of congratulations, an elaborate four course supper was prettily served in the dining room where pink carnations and smilax formed the decorations.

Both bride and groom have many friends in this city which has been the bride's home all her life. She is a young woman who is especially popular with her friends and many costly presents told of the high esteem in which she is held. The groom is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Gridley, of Milwaukee. He is a young man of excellent character and holds a responsible position with the Chicago & Northwestern railway company.

The wedding guests from out of the city were Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Schmidley, Mr. and Mrs. L. R. Gridley, Miss Mary E. Gridley and L. L. Gridley, all of Milwaukee.

Mr. and Mrs. Gridley left Thursday evening on a wedding trip and on their return they will make their Pearl street. They have the best wishes of their many friends.

Antisdel and selections from his various writings were read by Misses Nellie Douglas, Ethel Soper and Faye Antisdel and Messrs. Roy Antisdel, Floyd Drafiel, Harry Robb and U. G. Walte. The news report was given by Otto Gehling and F. C. Miller acted as critic during the evening.

Failure on the part of some of the newly elected officers of the Modern Woodmen to be installed in their respective positions, led to another election at the last meeting of the camp to fill the offices left vacant. ### FIVE LOSE LIVES IN A GAS HOUSE

FORGOT TO CLOSE THE COVER:

Laborers Were Changing Chemical in Purifying Box and Neglected to Take Proper Precautions—One Victim Gives Warning, Then Dies.

Chicago, Feb. 12.—While at work in the purifying box in the plant of the Northwestern Gas Light and Coke company at Blue Island five men were killed by the fumes of escaping gas and ten others were overcome.

The men, under the direction of Supt. Martin C. Russell, had been engaged in changing the purifier in the purifying box. According to the statements of the men at the plant, when the men finished the work of changing the substance in the box they did not close the covers on the bottom of the box. When the gas was turned into the box for the purifying process it escaped in volumes, and the men were overcome where they stood.

Dead and Injured.
The dead: George Arnold, Albert Katolphi, J. Larson, John Luong, and Martin C. Russell.

The injured: William Black, Carson England, John McCabe, two colored laborers, unidentified laborer and four other men.

The purifying box in which the men had been working has dimensions of 22 by 16 feet and is 13 feet 6 inches in depth.

Turn Off the Gas.

So soon as word was received in other parts of the plant of the tragedy in the purifying room the gas was turned off and the bodies of those who had died and the senseless forms of the others who had been affected were removed.

The sudden flow of gas into the purifier box is said to be due to the fact that during the day there was a pressure of seventy pounds to the square inch in the tank, and it is believed that this pressure proved too great, and the gas escaped into the box before the workers were aware that there was any danger. The covers of the purifying box being open, the deadly fumes filled the room before warning could be given to the workmen in the other parts of the building.

Sink to the Floor.

Men sank to the floor of the building unconscious as the noxious vapor filled the air. One man, supposed to be George Arnold, was standing near the door when the flow of gas came, and he remained conscious long enough to shout to the men in the other part of the building.

The cry of warning was his last, and he sank upon the floor a short distance from the forms of his senseless companions. His was the first body found by the workmen when they entered the room after the flow of gas had been stopped by shutting off the engines in the power-house.

Carry Out the Dead.

One of the first to be recovered was Martin C. Russell, superintendent of the force which was making alterations in the machines and who had charge of the work in the purifying room.

One at a time the men were carried to the open air and laid on the ground. The fumes of the gas were still strong in the room when the last of the unconscious men was taken out.

The plant of the gas company is at the southern part of the city, near the Chicago Terminal Transfer railway tracks, and as soon as news of the disaster reached the village crowds of citizens hastened to the scene to aid in the work of rescue.

Fire at Hiram.

Officers of Laurel Lodge No. 2, Degree of Honor had the pleasure of executing a genuine surprise, Thursday afternoon, the victim being Mrs. Charles Lagermann, the retiring financier who has served the lodge in that capacity ever since its organization four years ago. The company of ladies assembled at Mrs. Lagermann's home, 308 South Main street, about three o'clock, finding their unsuspecting hostess absent, a fact which they had counted on.

The afternoon was pleasantly spent and at five o'clock an elegant supper, which had been furnished by the ladies, was served. When dessert had been finished, Mrs. Philip Ohlweiler, in behalf of the officers of the lodge, presented Mrs. Lagermann with a handsome berry spoon engraved with her initials and bearing the words Degree of Honor on the reverse side of the handle.

The measure authorizes the garnisheeing for debt of the wages of any employee of a concern. It is backed chiefly by the retail grocers' association of the state. Gates is a baking powder manufacturer and is supporting the bill.

RUSSIAN PROVERBS.

Russia is a land of many proverbs, a large number of which lose their point when translated into English. Among some of the best, however, are:

Home is a full cup.

Calumny is like a coal; if it does not burn it will soil.

Sorrow kills not, but it blights.

The pine stands afar, but whispers to its own forest.

Poverty is not a sin, but twice as bad.

Black may be toll, but white is its price.

The wolf catches the destined sheep.

An old crow creaks not for nothing.

Many a man's mouth pays no attention to his brain's closing hours.

We are using chloral, bromides and carbolic acid. The acid administered is a 4 per cent solution, of which the patient is given two drops every five hours.
